

About Us

Originally established in 1977 by Joe McDonald, McDonald Group Services is now managed by son and co-director Stephen McDonald.

The company ethos remains the same of putting clients first and providing a well-established quality installation and after sales support service.

Our core business is in Alarm Security & Fire Alarm Systems, CCTV & Network provision to our valued clients in Dublin, North Wicklow, and surrounding areas.

Our motto is and has always been “Security without Compromise” .

We strive to provide all the initial information and design specifications, helping clients make an informed decision, reduce project overrun and unnecessary financial outlay.

This process continues throughout the project consulting with architects, project managers and engineers and only installing certified equipment.

We meet with the various sub-contractors on site to allow for the smooth installation of the various network and electrical support requirements required in today's hi-tech smart homes and commercial centres.

Our second-generation family business continues to expand, and we are immensely proud of our valued client base and the referrals which they in turn provide to their families, friends, and business associates.

Our clients include a high number of individual homes and a variety of commercial premises including pharmaceutical, industrial units, schools, and churches along with semi state and government departments.

Whether your project is large or small we would be delighted to discuss it and answer any questions you may have, advise on the most suitable system or services available in the current market.
